

THE POLITICS OF IDENTITY

Francis D. Wormuth Symposium

Thursday, April 6 – Friday, April 7, 2017

THURSDAY, APRIL 6

Assessing and Articulating Identity Politics

Spencer Fox Eccles Building (the Business School building), Room 7180

Introduction and welcome, 8:30-8:45

Brent Steele, University of Utah

Panel I: 8:45-10:15, The Critical Politics of Identity

Race Against Time: The Temporal Structure of the White Yeomanry

Edmund Fong, University of Utah

Crippling Constructivism: 'Anarchy is what States make of it' and the Specter of Disability

S. Michael Christian, University of Utah

Discussant, Christopher Browning, University of Warwick

Panel II: 10:30-12:00, International Culture and Everyday Identity Politics

Olympic Cities Research: Assessing Local Impacts

Matthew Burbank, University of Utah

Education, Cultural Exchange and US-China Relations: Peaceful Accommodation through intercultural understanding?

Mark Bean, University of Utah

Discussant, Pertti Joenniemi, Tampere University

Panel III: 1:00-2:30, Identity, Morality and International Relations

American Ideology and Foreign Policy: The Moral Identity Which Sustains

Anne Peterson, University of Utah

The EU in Crisis: Germany and Hungary's Dichotomous Reactions to Migration

Shelly Daines, University of Utah

Discussant, Christopher Browning, University of Warwick

Panel IV: 3:00-4:45, Deliberating Identity, Deliberating

Democracy

A Reasoning Public? Cultivating Deliberative Dispositions in Public Administration

Daniel Patterson and Mark Button, University of Utah

Democratic Participation and Civic Conscience: A Theoretical Accounting of Participatory Civic Education

Jake Garrett, University of Utah

Rethinking Procedural Minimums through Aristotelian Methodology

Lani Moon and D. Porter Morgan, University of Utah

Discussant: Brent Steele, University of Utah

Wrap-up, 5:00-5:30

FRIDAY, APRIL 7

Vicarious Identity in International Relations

Building 73, Room 107

Overview, 1:00-1:45

What is Vicarious Identity in International Relations?

Chris Browning, University of Warwick, Pertti Joenniemi, University of Eastern Finland, and Brent Steele, University of Utah

The United States and Great Britain, 2:00-2:45

Vicarious Identification as Foreign Policy Strategy: Temptations and Vulnerabilities of the 'Renewed Special Relationship,'

Christopher Browning, University of Warwick

The United States and Israel, 3:00-3:45

US Vicarious Identity with Israel: 1945-2017

Brent Steele, University of Utah

Denmark and the United States, 4:00-4:45

Engagement in war as a source of pride: exploring Denmark's self-identity in the light of the US-Danish relationship

Pertti Joenniemi, University of Eastern Finland

Wrap-up, 5:00-5:30

Francis D. Wormuth Presidential Chair
POLITICAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT | THE UNIVERSITY OF UTAH